Lawyer Moss, who appeared for him, argued that the boy was a stranger and was not acquainted with the laws, but the judge told him that the boy was not so ignorant of the law as he pretended to be. He had discussed the license question with Policeman West, who arrested him, and without the officer's telling him anything he said: "If you give me $50 I'll get the icense."

Counsel then argued for the release of the boy on his personal bonds, and said that he should be given a chance, as this country was an asylum for the oppressed of foreign coun-

Judge Harper finally concluded to take the boy's personal bonds, and told him that if he continued to do business without a license he would be arrested and sent down.

THE EVENING STAR: WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1891. THE DISTRICT HEALTH.

It is Generally Good-Large Falling Off in The Recent Cabinet Resignation-"The general health of the District is good, says Health Officer Hammett in his report for last week. "The number of deaths this week has fallen off from 138 to 97, showing a decrease of 30 per cent. There were 127 deaths during the corresponding period of last year. There is a material decrease in the mortality from diarrheal diseases, and the death rate of children under five years of age has fallen from 40 per cent to about 28 per cent, the normal percentage being about 36. "The increase in deaths from typhoid and nalarial fevers, which usually occurs in September, would seem to indicate an early appearance of malarial troubles this year." The report shows: Number of deaths, 97; white, 57, colored, 40. Death rate per 1,000 per annum—White, 17.4; colored, 26; total population, 20.1. Twenty-eight were under five ulation, 20.1. Twenty-eight were under five years of age, 21 were under one year old and 17 over sixty years; 23 of the deaths occurred in hospitals and public institutions. The deaths by classes were as follows: Zymotic, 34; constitutional, 15; local, 37; developmental, 5; violence, 6. The principal causes of death were: Diphtheria, 4; consumption, 13; diarrhœal, 10; typhoid fever, 8; malarial fevere, 5; scarlet fever 1; preumonia 3; horopolitic 3; scarlet fever, 1; pneumonia, 3; bronchitis, 2; whooping cough, 3; kidney diseases, 4. Births reported: Thirty-five white males, 18 white females, 13 colored males, 14 colored females, 19 colored females. Marriages reported: Sixteen white, 6 colored. Still births reported: Three white, 5 colored.

There Will Be a Parade in This City o Labor day this year falls on Monday, Sepember 7, and the day will be fittingly observed by the local men. Last night the Federation of Labor held a meeting and decided to parade with the Bricklayers' Union on that day. One of the most important acts at last night's meeting was the recognition of the delegation from Columbia Typographical Union, whose delegates last fall withdrew. The Darby and Mc-

The indications at the time of this writing are that the final operations, which are now in progress, will meet with success. Three heavy rains and almost daily showers have fallen on the Chicago ranch in the past two weeks since the government expedition began its experiments in the investigation of the problem of artificial rainfall, and it now looks as if a fourth storm would soon be added to the list. For two weeks the experimenters have maintained a continuous "skirmish" at the field of operation, while the bigger "guns." in the shape of oxygen apparatus and hydrogen generators, were being set up and fitted for action. Every day during this period heavy discharges of rackarock mixture, dynamite and other explosives have been fired, and at intervals more powerful explosions have been effected with hydrogen gas, produced with temporary apparatus, and fired in ballooms at a height of one to two miles above the earth. Your special correspondent, writing from Camp Moore, Ocean View, under date of August 23, 1891, in referring to the lack of discipline in camp takes occasion to say that "all when they are attached to electrical cables and allowed to rise to a height of 1,000 to 8,000 feet, and then exploded by sparks from currents sent through the air from dynamos on the ground below. The explosion of one of these balloons is so powerful that even at such a distance the concussion shakes the ground, and would prove destructive to window glass if any existed in the vicinity of the apparatus. Besides the balloon explosions, a large number of kites are employed to raise dynamite cartridges, which are also exploded high in the air by means of electric wires and a dynamo on the ground. the battalions have fallen almost entirely out of the habit of respecting the authority or obeying without question the orders of the hour" and that this is "the sad case throughout the brigade."
So far as the writer is personally concerned the above statements would be given only a passing notice, but in justice to the officers and enlisted men, who were often compelled to do enlisted men, who were often compelled to do double duty in order to keep up the regular order of the camp. I must protest against including the camp of the sixth battalion as one wanting in anything except, perhaps, proficience in drill, and this we do not lay claim to. Had your correspondent done us the honor of visiting our camp he would undoubtedly have spared me the pain it causes me to be obliged to correct his statements. Sixth Battalion.

Death of Peter Harvey. Another good citizen of the West End died at his home yesterday morning, where he had lived since his discharge from the army in 1863. Mr. Peter Harvey served in the second United States infantry and participated in all the battles of the army of the Potomac under Gen. McClellan, including the battle of. Fredericksburg, where he lost his left arm, which resulted in his discharge. Mr. Harvey was for some time after his discharge an employe of the adjutant general's office, War Department, but he subsequently went into business for himself. He leaves a wife and business for himself. He leaves a wife and five grown children to mourn his loss, though he leaves them handsomely provided for, he having owned considerable property in the northwest portion of the city. His funerat will take place from St. Stephen's Church Thursday, August 27. The interment will be in Holy Rood cemetery.

Brook Stafford, a well-known young man from Staunton, Va., while attempting to cross Jackson river on a log yesterday at Lowmoor stepped off and was drowned. His body was not recovered.

The body of Chas. A. Fenn, nineteen years old, of Philadelphia, who was drowned in Turtle Gut Inlet, Holly Beach, a week ago by the capsizing of a boat, in which were also his father and brother, was found yesterday morning on Two-mile Beach, one mile below the life saving station at Cape May. The body is badly decomposed. Fourteen dollars, a watch and ring were found on the body. THE SITUATION IN HATTL AN ACCOMPLISHED CRIMINAL.

hinted at. It is not expected that the resignation of the cabinet will provoke any trouble.

Dr. J. B. Terres, consul and acting United States minister, says that since the present government came into power there has never been less cause for alarm that an outbreak could prove successful than at present. He said:
"There is absolutely no foundation for any woife, alias Wood, was shown at the main prison in this city the officials recognized it as the likeness of Davis. Wishing to secure un-doubted proof, Gov. Buchanan forwarded the photograph to Tracy City and yesterday re-ceived information that each of the guards, as ceived information that each of the guards, as well as many convicts, had readily identified it. The governor communicated with the chief of police of Jersey City and will decide in a day or two as to the best plan for getting Davis within the jurisdiction of the Tennessee authorities, if such a thing is possible.

Davis is one of the smartest convicts ever placed within the walls of a prison. Not long after his arrival in Tennessee—probably less than a year ago—he was arrested in Tipton county for forgery, and, being tried at Covington, was convicted and sentenced to a long term in the penitentiary. He was brought to Nashville and afterward taken to Tracy City, where he was put to work in a coal mine. A few President Hyppolite is sincere in his desire to do right, but he will not tolerate the slightest attempt to weaken his authority. If he had been assassinated and his ville and afterward taken to Tracy City, where he was put to work in a coal mine. A few months ago Gov. Buchanan received through the mail a letter to which was attached the name of N. W. Baptist, a prominent citizen of Covington. Mr. Tipton, a member of the house of representatives, also received a letter requesting him to see Gov. Buchanan in behalf of Davis, who was represented to be a boy. To this letter the names of a number of citizens government overthrown the city would have been in flames in less than half an hour. Probably thousands would have lost their lives; in consequence."

According to people here who ought to be qualified to judge, the personal and political character of Hyppolite has been painted far too black. The bloodthirstiness and maniacal outbreaks attributed to him this letter the names of a number of citizen and the judges and jury who took part in the trial of Davis were appended. Gov. Buchanan considered the matter and sent Davis a pardon. Davis left the mine without delay and several days elapsed before Mr. Baptist, upon hearing from Gov. Buchanan of the pardo referred to his position as president of the country by virtue of a successful revolution hastened to Nashville and after looking ove country by virtue of a successful revolution and a legitimate election. "I accepted," he said, "believing that I could best serve my country by such a course. I am pledged to peace and I am strongly determined to prethe letters, stated every name thereon had been forged. Ever since that time until th present the police have been on the alert, but beyond learning that Davis had been in Springfield, Mass., and afterward in Montreal, they knew nothing positive until they heard from Jersey City and saw the photograph. All doubt was removed by the letter from the Give an peace and I am strongly determined to preserve peace."

The publication here of John D. Metzger's pamphlet, "The American Question in Hayti," has aroused considerable attention. The charges made against Admiral Gherardi, Mr. Reed, Mr. Clyde and Lieut. Hughes are considered grave. Mr. Metzger is a citizen of New York and has been for eleven years American consul at Gonaives. He assured the Associated Press correspondent that he had made no charges without proof. He thought a scandalous and outrageous method had been resorted to by our government in its dealings with the

Davis, it seems, has been engaged in questionable practices in a number of cities, but his work in Tennessee stamps him a man of more than ordinary ability. While unbroken tranquillity now prevails, i His Offense the Alleged Harboring of the while unbroken tranquillity now prevails, it is still true that there is an undercurrent of unrest and uncertainty. A rumor is at present in circulation, but is not credited, that Gen. by Ford. A party of white men started out to capture the desperado, taking with them the colored men of the place to assist in the capture of Murray and to prevent them from giving him information and protection. Ford had repeatedly been with Murray, and he was considered by the colored people as the confederate of that black rascal.
Ford's home was cautionaly approached on Ford's home was cautiously approached on Saturday night, as it was thought Murray might be there. After the house was surrounded en-trance was demanded. Murray was not found and the colored family declared that Ford was and the colored family declared that Ford was absent from home. A search was instituted and Ford's big feet were seen protruding from beneath a bed. He was at once dragged out. He refused to tell where Murray was, although lynching was threatened. Yesterday morning three strange negroes said that Harmon Murray was near Spark, and that if white men would lead them they would capture him. Samuel Tucker, an ex-sheriff, volunteered to lead them and a party left Gainesville on the railroad at noon. There is work in hand to decide that question, but it is believed that the expedition will next proceed to El Paso, and after operating there visit western Kansas, where rain is sorely needed.

The indications at the time of this writing are considerable bad feeling between the whites and the negroes. The public movement for the purpose of establishing a steamboat line from Chattanooga, Tenn., to St. Louis, in which 100 men are asked to subscribe $1,000 each, is now an assured success, the list having reached eighty.

Telephone call—820. The operations have been on a scale sufficiently large to have an important effect upon the meteorological conditions, if the theories upon which the experiments are based are correct, and the remarkable series of showers and storms which have lately occurred in this locality, after a decidedly dry season, together with the unusually unsettled state of the meteorological condition, seem to indicate clearly that these operations have exerted a powerful influence and had a practical effect upon the weather in this part of the state. Now that still more effective apparatus has been brought into operation, the rain makers look for still more marked results. remedies failed to cure. Hearing of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, I resolved to give them a trial. I followed the directious carefully, and it affords me much pleasure to say that before using two boxes of the CUTICURA, four cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was entirely cured. In addition to my own case, my baby boy, then about five months old, was suffering with what I supposed to be the same disease as mine, to such an extent that his head was coated over with a solid scab, from which there was a constant flow of pus which was sickening to look upon, besides two pus which was sickening to look upon, besides two large tumor-like kernels on the back of his head, Thanks to your wonderful CUTICURA REME-Thanks to your wonderful CUTICURA REME-DIES, his scalp is perfectly well, and the kernels have been scattered so that there is only one little place by his left ear, and that is healing nicely. Instead of a coating of scabs he has a fine coat of hair, much better than that which was destroyed by the disease. I would that the whole world of sufferers from skin and blood diseases knew the value of your CUTICURA REME-DIES as I do. They are worth ten times the price at which they are sold. I have never used any other toilet soap in my house since I bought the first cake of your CUTICURA SOAP. I would be inhuman, as well as ungrateful, should I fail to speak well of and recommend them to every sufferer. I have spoken of them, and shall continue to speak of them, from the pulpit, in the homes and in the streets.
